For Immediate Release

January 31, 2010

On 1/31/2010 at approximately 0229 hrs Georgetown Police Officers responded to an attempted robbery at East Main Street Shell. Upon arrival, officers were advised by the on duty clerk that a white female had entered the business and placed a blank napkin on the counter. When the clerk didn't respond to her she took the napkin and left the store. A short time later the female returned and placed the napkin back on the counter. This time the napkin had a message written on it which implied she had a weapon and that she wanted all the money from the register. The clerk indicated to the suspect that he was going to call the police. The female subject left the store, taking the napkin, stating that she would be back with two "friends". The suspect left on foot traveling down East Main Street towards the rail road crossing.

The suspect is described as: White Female, 18-25 years of age, 5'5 - 5'8, 160-180lbs. Dark sock cap, black jacket with gray sleeves and a gray attached hood. Dark shirt with bright green logo and bluejeans.

Anyone with information regarding this incident is asked to call the Georgetown Police Department, (502) 863-7828. Detective Natalie Payne is the lead investigator.
